

Patient and Public Involvement

The National Emergency Laparotomy Team are hoping to speak with patients and families who have experience of emergency laparotomy.

Our first goal is to redesign the NELA website to make it more patient friendly and informative. We need to hear from people like you, who can tell us what information is most important and what we need to focus on moving into the future.

We would like to invite you to join an online focus group lasting approximately 1 hour, and might also ask you some questions via email.

We know some people can only offer a small amount of time, and would be grateful for anything you are able to manage

Please contact Angeline Price via the NELA email address if you are interested. Details are below
